

DOCTORS WANTED!

Help test assessment tools

There have been assessment procedures for investigating poorly performing doctors for 14 years. The Academic Centre for Medical Education at UCL is working with the GMC to review Fitness to Practise procedures and update the assessments to ensure each assessment is fair to the doctor being assessed.

To do this, we are holding validation events for new assessment material and are looking for interested and fully registered doctors to participate. The day will involve taking a written test and a 12 station OSCE and will last from 10:00am – 4:30pm

To be eligible, you must be FY2 to Consultant level, and have worked in the specialty for at least four months within the last year. Volunteers can only take this test once for each specialty.

All volunteers will receive feedback about their own performance. The day provides valuable insight into how the GMC assesses referred doctors and is also excellent examination practice for those about to do postgraduate exams.

Dates:

October 2014 (Manchester)

16 th	Gastroenterology
17 th	Upper GI surgery

November 2014 (London)

10 th	Ophthalmology
11 th	Breast Surgery
12 th	Neurology

December 2014 (London)

15 th	GP (sim surgery)
16 th	ENT

January 2015 (Manchester)

22 nd	Colorectal surgery
23 rd	Urology

February 2015 (London)

16 th	GUM
17 th	GP (sim surgery)

Participants will receive an honorarium of £350 plus (standard class) travel expenses and lunch.

For more information and to apply, visit our web page:

<http://www.ucl.ac.uk/medicalschooll/postgraduate/gmc/pilot-information>

E-mail: gmc-events@ucl.ac.uk

General Medical Council

Regulating doctors
Ensuring good medical practice