IT'S REALLY HARD TO BE GOOD AT EVERYTHING

The primary colours model describes three leadership domains: strategic, operational and interpersonal. It's really hard to be good at all of them.

Think about what you are good at, consider which areas you can develop and work on your strengths (including your more fragile strengths) and accept your limitations.

THE MAPPING METAPHOR

A map helps you prepare for your leadership journey and consider the best direction. Take time to think about your territory. By map reading, map testing and map making you will be more successful.

YES AND.....

Stay open to opportunities and ideas. If something is suggested try saying Yes And...(if we can get round the problem of...) rather than Yes But. "Yes And..." creates momentum and invites creativity which can identify new solutions.

Creativity can help you as a leader to make the changes that are needed.
